

AUTUMN (ORIGINAL MIX)

W H S P E R

The new downtempo-leaning project from Calgary electronic music artist Dustin Wolfe While THE NAME is a new addition to the city's musical landscape, THE music is THE product of years of personal and artistic development.

BLUE VALENTINE (VIP)

Since the start of the decade Wolfe has been laying roots in Calgary's bass music scene under various monikers, first as a DJ, then as a promoter and sound technician. Some of his notable past credits include opening for artists like S.P.Y., Fred V + Grafix, and Dub Phizix.

After years of tinkering he finally found his sound, the stylistic framework that he feels the most inspired by. And so in 2015 Wolfe began Whisper, a clean slate from which to showcase his new vision.

Far removed from the often rigid-templates of club music, Whisper moves away from prevalent BPMs, exploring lush melodies, haunting vocals, and ambient atmospheres bursting with their own unique character.

To achieve this quality Whisper has enlisted a roster of both local and international musicians, hoping to use his music as a platform to bring people together. The first original track "Autumn" features Liverpool-based vocalist Kite. The forthcoming "Snowfall EP" features a collaboration with noted local multi-instrumentalist Distance Bullock, and several other eclectic YYC artists.

This February Whisper is slated to perform at Costa Rica's Bamboo Bass Festival. It will be his first major appearance under the Whisper moniker, and an event that further sets the tone for a year that began with a remix competition for Autumn receiving national attention, attracting artists from across Canada.

For Wolfe, Whisper represents music that he's always envisioned in his own mind. Now that he's begun creating it, the captivating nature of his music is only paralleled by the captivation of wondering what he'll imagine next.
